To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to provide a strong recommendation for Rita Adhikari, who has worked with us as a Personal Support Worker at Trinity Place Foundation, I have had the pleasure of supervising Rita for 05/29/23 till 02/28/24, and in that time, she has consistently proven herself to be a dedicated, compassionate, and skilled professional. Rita's role involved assisting individuals with daily living tasks, including doctor's appointment, recreation activities, emotional support etc.. And she approached every task with both professionalism and empathy. Her ability to connect with individuals, understand their needs, and offer tailored care has made her an invaluable member of our team. Rita shows great patience, respect, and kindness, which are vital qualities in this field.

Beyond her technical expertise in providing personal care, Rita is an excellent communicator. She works seamlessly with colleagues, clients, and their families, always ensuring that important information is shared accurately and promptly. She also takes initiative when it comes to learning new skills and staying current with best practices in the caregiving field. Her positive attitude, commitment to high standards of care, and attention to detail are truly commendable. Rita has also demonstrated great adaptability and problem-solving skills, whether it's adjusting to a client's changing needs or managing difficult situations with calm and poise. She is highly reliable, punctual, and maintains a positive attitude even under pressure. I have no doubt that Rita would be a tremendous asset to any team or individual she works with. I wholeheartedly recommend her.

Sincerely,

Sunny,
